

Part 2 Of The Google SERP Domination Series: A Consequence of My Blunder to Tell Some People the Secret of My Google's SERP Domination. 😊

Well, I offered my SEO report to first 10 people who bought google payload through my affiliate link and all the hell broke loose on me. After 7 days of the launch of Google Payload Chris announced his product launch that is Google Assassin. I jumped again to dominate Google this time too. I tried all of my existing strategies but I was late. Some of my students [I mean who got my SEO report] already occupied all top 10 spots. I know all of them by name and email communication. I got several emails from those delighted guys thanking me for teaching the tips of ranking well. And I was nowhere!

I was worried about my future in IM since I always make lots of affiliate sales through leeching product launch.

I decided to brainstorm new idea about ranking well. I searched for new high pr backlink sources for almost 2 days and finally I got some idea to do it. It was just another experiment but I had no alternative. I was determined to grab top position again.

Let me expose it to you now [Ah...I've to research new SEO technique to defeat you guy again]

High PR Internal Pages:

There are almost 4000 pages with Google PR 5 and above where you can add your comments with a link back to your website. Add a comment related to the topic, don't spam it. One comment is sufficient for a thread. 10 comments with PR 5 and above pagerank can do wonder.

How to find out these internal pages with high pr?

Go to <http://www.livepr.info/internal-pages-page-rank3.php>

And enter the website name.

These are websites with high pr and social network site which does not have nofollow tag.

Some websites you should consider are

<http://reddit.com>

<http://twitter.com>

<http://propeller.com>

These four websites can give your website/weblog 100s of high PR [PR 5 or above] backlinks.

Video Sharing Site Backlinks:

I think you know about the video sharing sites and traffics received by those sites. Those sites have very high PR.

When you submit one video to youtube.com it is automatically syndicated to videos.google.com and video.aol.com . In same manner when you submit to metacafe.com , your video is syndicated automatically to many other websites. Our goal is to acquire backlinks from these video sharing sites.

Just make a quick powerpoint presentation on your product and capture the presentation with camtasia software and add background music to it. Add watermark with your website/weblog name.

Now come to the original point , we have to get live backlinks from these websites. It is very easy , when you submit one video you have to write little bit description about it.

Write it this way:

Description:

<http://yourwebsitename.com>

keyword1 , keyword2 , keyword3.....

Example- <http://youtube.com/watch?v=B5mxyz4-mYQ>

So , this is good way to get several high pr live links to your weblog/sites and get several hundreds free hits.

Here is a good list of video sharing sites-

Conclusion:

Yes , I did it. I occupied Google's #1 position using these methods again. My competitors were clueless ☺ and now you have the clue.
